The Costa Brava, located in the northeast of Catalonia, is one of the most captivating destinations in the Mediterranean, famous for its rugged landscapes, beaches with crystal clear waters and charming fishing villages. Stretching across the province of Girona, this coastline combines nature, culture and gastronomy in an environment of unparalleled beauty, attracting both travellers seeking relaxation and adventurers passionate about exploring.

This region is known for its hidden coves and golden sandy beaches, many of them surrounded by lush pine trees and rock formations that emerge from the water, offering a spectacular contrast between the blue of the sea and the green of the landscape. The famous coastal path, a network of coastal paths, invites visitors to travel the coast on foot, revealing breathtaking views and access to small hidden coves that can only be discovered by walking.

The Costa Brava is also home to charming medieval villages, such as Pals and Peratallada, and picturesque seaside towns such as Cadaqués and Calella de Palafrugell, which have maintained their authenticity over time. The region is also the cradle of creativity, being the place where the celebrated artist Salvador Dalí found inspiration for some of his most iconic works. His legacy can be explored in the Dalí Triangle, with museums and venues such as the Dalí Theatre-Museum in Figueres and his residence in Portlligat.

Finally, the Costa Brava is a gastronomic paradise. From Michelin-starred restaurants to traditional local taverns, the cuisine of this region is based on fresh, quality ingredients, capturing the flavours of the sea and the mountains in exceptional dishes.

With its combination of dreamlike landscapes, rich cultural history and a vibrant gastronomic offer, the Costa Brava has established itself as an unforgettable destination that makes visitors fall in love with it and leaves an indelible mark on the memory of every traveller.
